WILCOX & GIBBS SEWING MACHINE.

We would call attention to the following facts in connection with this Machine which render it superior to any other in use:

It forms a flat elastic seam which will not rip in wear.

It is entirely noiseless.

A patented device prevents its being turned backwards.

The needle cannot be set wrong;

Can be used successfully without other instructions than accompany the Machine;

It received the Gold Medal of the American Institute in 1863. For particulars enquire of HOWE'S PRIZE MEDAL Sewing Machines!!

ELIAS HOWE JR., THE ORIGINAL INVENTOR of the Sewing Machine, was awarded the

First Prize Medal

AT THE

INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION,

Recently held at London, over 250 kinds of Sewing Machines entered for competition from all parts of the world. This is the greatest triumph of the age, and all who have an opportunity to ascertain their merits are satisfied that they are the most perfect in Mechanism and simplest in construction of any Machine yet produced, being easily understood, not at all liable to get out of repair, and are very durable. They are adapted to all grades of work and make a perfect

Lock Stitch,

Alike on both sides of the fabric. Every one should see the

THE DEMOCRACY.—A shrewd Albany writer thus describes the Democracy and the dilemma in which they find themselves:

The second defeat of the Democratic party upon the re-election of Lincoln left that organization fatally disabled. The disastrous crash of the Confederacy and triumphant close of the great civil war must apparently bury it forever. Its leaders, Richmond and Cagger, Parker and Pruyn, Seymour and Corning, Sweeny and the Tammany men, Van Buren and Hanson, are all as meek as mice. The temper of last year's rampant Copperheads particularly is now subdued to the most absolute concession of their own folly. Seymour has taken himself to his farm and oblivion. His personal followers in the State are also laid away in their political coffins, only waiting to be entombed with Fernando Wood, Jeff. Davis and the unpardoned traitors who will be forever consigned to historical infamy by the State trials to come off before the elections this Fall. The platform of the party just now is a blank sheet of paper. It can only be conjectured by inference from the aspect of the Union party and the developing policy of the Administration.

The capture of Richmond, of Lee and Jeff. Davis, the assassination of Lincoln, and all the extraordinary developments since March last have passed over the Democracy like a tornado. But no event so completely confounded them as the policy of Andy Johnson. At the head of the Administration, and executing the duties of his office upon the most orthodox traditions as a Democrat, opposition to his course has been nonplussed. Step by step, prejudice and party discipline have given way. The first idea of 'Tylerizing' the Administration has been followed tacitly by the more practical scheme of revolutionizing the party itself. The Democratic leaders seeing that the very policy which they must adopt in any event is that on which the President is acting have concluded to make no hesitation about it but adopt both the man and his measures—as they can, indeed, do nothing else and be consistent. Having fully reached this conclusion, they see in the action of the Union party a division upon the negro suffrage question which affords them the initiative issue on which to array the party with every certainty of success. Assuming that the present aspect of parties shall continue to the leaders of the Democracy, such as Richmond, Van Buren, Church and Sweeny, who have not been identified with the extreme Copperhead interest, will be conceded the unobstructed direction of the party councils. A plan for a fall campaign and revolution of the party based upon the following general points is accordingly discussed:

Aiming at a restoration of the party to a majority in this State, the abolition of slavery by the final indorsement of the constitutional amendment in the several States shall be declared and enforced as a cardinal principle. Opposition to the idea of negro suffrage is to be made a leading aim of the party, the question being left where the President has declared it to rest, with the States themselves, as provided in the Constitution.

"The indorsement of the reconstruction policy of the President is not only proposed but even his renomination for the succession is to be assured by the party.

"The national debt, the Monroe doctrine and other public questions are to be treated in the same spirit."

CHAMP FERGUSON, THE GUERILLA.—A Nashville (Tenn.) paper thus describes the notorious ruffian who is now on trial there for the commission of more than fifty murders:

Champ Ferguson appears to be about forty years of age or upward. He stands erect, is fully six feet high, and weighs about two hundred pounds. He is built solid, and is evidently a man of great muscular strength. He has a full round face, which is bright and intelligent looking. His large black eyes fairly glitter and almost look through a person. His face was covered with a stiff, black beard. His hair is jet black, very thick, and cut rather short. He brushes it back from his fine, high forehead. He is certainly a very intelligent looking man, and nothing vicious is portrayed in his face. His countenance is, on the contrary, pleasing, and one would readily take him for an honest farmer as he appeared before us. His face is beginning to reveal the footprints of age, and wrinkles can be traced on his forehead and under his eyes. He was dressed in a very shabby style. A pair of coarse, gray, home-spun pants and a faded grey rebel uniform coat, over which he wore a very old and greasy black, heavy cloth coat, a coarse factory shirt, and a faded black slouch hat, with good, heavy boots, completed his attire. The general effect of his dress was slovenly and shabby. His voice is firm, and it is evident that he is a man of iron nerve. He appeared to grow impatient at the delay of his counsel.

HEALTH OF SEWARD AND HIS SON.—The Secretary of State continues his duties in almost perfect health. The novel and extraordinary splint was removed from his face by order of the surgeons, and proved to have been a marvelous success, and very few traces are to be seen of the original accident and the subsequent assault of the baffled assassin, with the exception of a slight swelling on the side of his right cheek. Two more pieces of bone were extracted from his face upon the removal of the frame, giving the Secretary additional relief. On the morning of the 18th inst. Mr. Seward rose, dressed himself and performed his toilet even to shaving without assistance, for the first time since his accident. His friends and the country will be glad to learn that he has entirely recovered the use of his arms, one of which was fairly maimed when he was thrown from his carriage. For seventy days, or three months of suffering, Mr. Seward's mind had been engaged in the transaction of public business—a fact which will enable him, with comparative ease, to resume the active and laborious duties of his department.

Frederick Seward has so far recovered as to contemplate a trip to Cape May shortly for the improvement of his health.

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican thinks the time has come when it will do no harm to make some disclosures respecting attempts made last winter to destroy the United States Arsenal there, which have hitherto been kept quiet for prudential reasons. It appears that a torpedo, made in imitation of a lump of coal, was discovered under a flight of stair, in the arsenal last December, and on being opened proved to contain powder and inflammable material enough, if exploded, to entirely destroy the building. Investigation showed that the infernal machine was left by two women or men in woman's clothes, who were disturbed just in time to prevent them from igniting its fuse. The Republican details two other attempts to cripple the armory in different ways, both of which fortunately failed as completely as the first.

A trial was recently made at London of a new iron clad. It is a steam gun boat which can be taken to pieces, and may be removed from place to place by rail or in a wagon. It is said to be ball proof, draws but three feet of water and carries a battery of rifled guns in a space where forty gunners as well as the guns are protected. The trial was very satisfactory.

Rev. Dr. [illegible] having expressed a very poor opinion of what which claims to be a national hymn, entitled America, a friend of the author reminds him that he wrote the verses forty years ago for a Sunday School celebration, never claimed them to be a national hymn, and is not to blame because the nation will sing it.

M. Plon, the publisher of Napoleon's Life of Cæsar, printed 140,000 copies and has been able to sell only 12,000 copies, which leaves him in a bad fix. He wishes the Emperor to reduce the price from ten to five francs. The latter sum is equivalent to one dollar.

A Vicksburg letter states that Provisional Governor Sharkey has reappointed the old county and town officers, and that our soldiers are thoroughly disgusted with the turn affairs are taking. It is said that Gov. Sharkey objects to having so many colored troops about, and the citizens hope that they will soon be rid of the blue coats altogether.

The Insolence of Baffled Treason

It has [illegible] thoughtful person to observe the [illegible] of the South [illegible] Virginia [illegible] Such [illegible] put [illegible] expected. Loyalty to the Government and [illegible] loyal citizens are not to be reasonably looked for in those who became defeated [illegible] than ever [illegible] toward the country and toward its patriotic defenders. We are not to look for future security in the good dispositions and intentions of those who but lately made war upon us. The way to perfect safety and peace lies in our own determined and patriotic efforts. [illegible] ever found [illegible] judgment among us that all the traitor foes of this Government are now willing to become peaceable and orderly citizens must be discarded. We hear too many complaints of oppression by rebels coming up from various parts of the South; we see too many manifestations of insolent hatred on the part of defeated traitors to permit us to believe that peace and order can be preserved in the late rebellious States except by the strong hand of the Government.

The existence of the refractory disposition which these people exhibit, must be regretted by all loyal men. Peace and not disorder and inquietude, is what every one desires. Our whole people would be glad to see those who lately laid down their arms, now cease their opposition to the measures of the Government, and by good behavior show themselves worthy to be accounted citizens again. Many, we are led to hope, will feel disposed to obey the laws and do their utmost to restore harmony and quiet. But many others, as events daily transpiring show, are still as implacable and rancorous as ever. It appears as if this class will have to be dealt with very severely, since they are incapable of appreciating the leniency and kindness which are shown them.

Our Eastern dispatches constantly give us accounts of the disturbances which these malignant persons are causing. We are very frequently told that the prospect for the restoration of order and peace is not such as to give encouragement to those who are laboring assiduously to promote this greatly desired end. Forbearance does not seem to avail. This quality is often mistaken for cowardice by those who are disposed to turbulence and wrong. With such, severity is the only persuasive or compelling argument, and we fear it will have to be exercised hereafter with greater rigor than has heretofore been made use of in order to settle the country and restore perfect peace.

The Democrat of Albany says: "Let the OREGONIAN bear in mind that Mr Douglas meant Abolitionists when he intimated that some one ought to be hung for treason."

The foregoing sentence has a very curious and yet a perfectly "Democratic" meaning. In the first place, let it be understood that when Douglas said "some one ought to be hung for treason," he meant by this expression any person who should commit this crime. Now what does the Democrat endeavor to make his language mean? Simply this: When Abolitionists get up a rebellion and try to subvert the Government it is treason and they should be hanged; when slave holders or "Democrats" do the same thing, such acts do not amount to treason and the perpetrators thereof ought not to be punished. By implication—by the fair meaning and interpretation of the language it uses, the Democrat does not only apologise for the acts of rebels, but also fully justifies them. The editor of that paper cannot write an article in which this meaning or sentiment does not appear. It is noticeable that "Democrats" everywhere do not consider those who began this great rebellion to have acted wickedly and in violation of law. Since the failure of the insurrectionary movement, they say merely that the rebels acted "unwisely" and this expression is the sum total of their opposition to the rebellion.

The British Government has an army of 76 000 soldiers in India.

LETTER OF MRS GEN LEE.—Galignani's Paris Messenger of June 1, contains a letter commonly imputed to the wife of Gen. Lee dated Richmond, May 5, from which we abstract the subjoined paragraph:

The result so unfortunate to all our fond hopes of four years' hardships and self denial almost unprecedented in the annals of the world must have reached you, my dear—— Also the false and garbled accounts of the Northern papers. The sad truth is that our people got tired of the war, and proved unworthy of the noble blood that had been shed for their liberty. Virginia will rue the day that her sons ever laid down their arms. When Gen. Lee surrendered to Gen. Grant he had only 7 800 muskets. These noble men had subsisted seven days on two day's rations, had been fighting by day and marching by night without even time to parch the corn which was their only sustenance. I cannot describe to you the agony of mind we have endured. The General is calm, resigned to necessity. The daily and hourly testimonials of kindness and regard he and all his family experienced, are most touching. Had he been conqueror he could scarcely be more honored and beloved, and the offers of homes and aid of every kind both from North and South, are truly gratifying. All my family have been mercifully spared. I trust for some good purpose for their country. The ways of Providence are indeed mysterious, we shall some day know the reason of much that is dark to us now. One thing we do know, that the triumph of the wicked is but short.

In this last sentence, reference is obviously made to the wickedness of the Confederacy, and its sudden and complete collapse.

GUERRILLAS COMING.—Mr Ashley of Ohio now in this city, says that on his trip overland he passed fully eight thousand Missourians, all coming to Oregon. Most of these persons had been actively engaged in the rebellion, and had left Missouri because, in their mad efforts to destroy the Government, they had made their State quite too hot to hold them any longer. We shall have to defend ourselves against this multitude of villainous cut throats, though they will find fit allies in the disloyalists to whom the Review, Arena, et id omne genus, send their weekly budgets of ribald treason. The Arena says these rebel murderers "ought to vote and will vote in Oregon." We submit, however, that loyal men have something to say on that question here just as they had in Missouri, from whence these bloody handed "Democrats" come.

REMARKABLY KEEN.—The New York World with wonderful acuteness proves that negroes are extremely licentious from the fact that of the colored population of the South 36½ per cent are mulattoes. We wonder if it ever occurred to the World that the existence of these mulattoes shows that licentiousness is not confined to the negro race alone? From the premises which the World lays down, most people will be apt to think that the immorality and dissoluteness of the whites in the matter complained of are about as reprehensible as the same vices in the blacks.

FORT WALLA WALLA.—The Walla Walla Statesman of Friday last devotes near a column to the work of showing that the abandonment of the Fort near that place would be unwise and even disastrous. We are apt to think that the greatest loss which will accrue from the removal the troops and stores from the Fort will fall upon the people of Walla Walla, in that they will thereby be deprived of the very liberal supplies of cash with which the officers and soldiers of the post have long furnished them.

Mr George B McClellan, whom many of our readers may have forgotten, was formerly a General in the army of the United States.

The Golden Circle General Order from its President

The following remarkable order is from the pen of Dr. Bickley [illegible] Knights of the Golden Circle [illegible] some two years ago [illegible]. It tells its own story.

The accompanying vindication of the order is [illegible] printed [illegible]

[illegible] GENERAL ORDER No. 10 6 18.—Whereas [illegible] General Order No. 7 5 1 [illegible] of the Golden Circle [illegible] all [illegible] departments [illegible] further orders [illegible] the Treasurer and [illegible]

Whereas, Maximilian has been [illegible] Circle as an institution much [illegible] has been [illegible] and may not be speedily [illegible] as all wish; and [illegible] Latinism [illegible] triumphed [illegible] Saxonism in Mexico as a consequence of the war, and the fate of Mexico being thus [illegible] the free and polity of the French and American Governments and their national and [illegible] therefore

1. That the Order No. 7 6 1 to remain in force and the suspension of the labors of the several Departments of the Golden Circle be continued till July 1, 1870, when the executive officers of the several departments and the legitimate members of the Congress of the Order will assemble in Washington City (D. C.), and with opened doors proceed to the disposal of such business as may be brought before them.

2. Immediately on the termination of the session of said Congress it will be assembled at the chosen locality to publicly lay the corner stone of the Saxon University and to ratify the appointment of the Board of Trustees and Faculty of the same.

3. All members of the Military Department are hereby released from their allegiance to the Order and from obligations of secrecy pertaining to the same.

4. I surrender the archives of the Order as per [illegible] one of the secretaries of the Order will be stationed permanently at Halifax, in the Province of Nova Scotia, to whom may be mailed [illegible] statements in reference to the occurrences of the war and American society between the 1st day of January, 1858, and the 1st day of June, 1865. The following subjects may be reported: the full name of the reporter, together with his Post Office address, whether a member of the Order of the Golden Circle or not being given in every case. No answer to letters of inquiry will be made as the object is to collect and not scatter information until the events of the past seven years shall be fully and truly chronicled and made ready for circulation by the Publishing Committee.

All facts throwing light on the causes which led to the war; political caucuses and associations of the two sections, including [illegible] the Kansas and Missouri difficulties [illegible] North and South, and their acts; all acts of Loyal League and Vigilance Committees; campaigns and battles of both armies; individual heroism; all cruelties to prisoners in both sections; all outrages perpetrated on women, children, and old, helpless persons of either section; all arbitrary arrests, military trials and convictions; all violations of paroles; all plots, schemes and unlawful expedients resorted to by the [illegible] Governments of the belligerents respectively; all desertions and unusual cruelties practiced by either party; all speculating schemes on the people of either section; all acts of outrage and [illegible] on sisters, wives and children, North or South, and every other good or reprehensible act done by either party and which can be proven beyond a question. With each report the writer will give the names of witnesses and their Post Office address, that their statements may be verified.

5. Charles Templeton is assigned to the duties of depositary, and all reports will be mailed to him at Halifax, Nova Scotia. In case of war between the United States and Great Britain, then the said Templeton will remove the reports to the Danish Island of St Thomas, West Indies, and he will notify the American public through the press of such removal.

6. Under no circumstances will any of these reports be made public until verified, and their use has been authorized by the Congress of the Order and been duly inspected by the publishing Committee. As history is valuable only as it is truthful, all mere opinions of those reporting facts may be withheld. Saxon civilization has all to gain and nothing to lose in knowing its own faults, and hence the extension of this invitation to all men of all parties, of whatever section, who have suffered or been in any way benefited by this convulsion of our social and political life.

9. Retiring to rest from the long and weary service I have given to the Order of the Golden Circle, I shall retire to the pursuits of private life, and so remain quietly until the assembling of the next Congress of the Order in 1870, and in view of the uncertainty of life, my lawful successor, in case of my demise, will see that these orders are strictly obeyed in letter and in spirit. For the fidelity and kindness borne me by the Order, I return my grateful acknowledgements, and believing and praying for the final triumph of Saxon liberty over Latin Monarchism on this continent, I beseech you, and each of you, to revere God, obey the laws, love your neighbors, and remain ever faithful to your principles.

GEO. W. L. BICKLEY, M. D.
President of the Golden Circle.

Fort Warren (Mass.) July 8, 1865.

During the past two weeks parties have continued to come into the valley from the Bitter Root and Blackfoot sections. Advices from Fort Benton up to July 20th are to the effect that emigration via the Missouri river had ceased to arrive. The chief portion of this year's passengers from St. Louis have located in different portions of Montana Territory. Several families were deterred from traveling with their teams to Hellgate thence to Walla Walla, on hearing of the impassable condition (on account of fallen timber) of the Mullan road after leaving the Bitter Root river ferry up to the Coeur d'Alene Mission. There are in all some ninety miles of the road obstructed by fallen timber, the most of it, however, is small, and to the east of the Mission, in the St. Regis Borgia and Coeur d'Alene valleys. Those good at calculation say that the entire line could be placed in good order for loaded teams between here and Bitter Root for a sum not exceeding $3 000.

It must be remembered that the amount of snow that falls on the eastern side of the mountains must determine the possibility of steamboats from St. Louis reaching Fort Benton each summer; and in this uncertain state of affairs were this road now open a large amount of profitable trade could be secured between this point, Hellgate, Bitter Root and Deer Lodge valleys. Certainly, another year must witness the opening of this line.

Another item is that Messrs. Spencer & Co. intend to start a fleet of Mackinaw boats from Fort Benton down the Missouri river to Sioux City, St. Joe and St. Louis, thus affording the mountaineers of Washington, Idaho and Montana an excellent opportunity to go home at little cost.—Walla Walla Statesman.

MURDER AND INDIAN REVENGE.—Capt. Johnson, of Shoalwater Bay, informs us of a horrible affair which occurred at Gray's Harbor last week. The Indian chief Jonainus went to the cabin of a white man named John Dickson, to settle some cause for dissatisfaction between them, when he was stabbed by Dickson, through the heart. Afterwards certain Indians, relatives of the fallen chief, caught Dickson, tied his hands and feet and a bar of wood across his neck, choking him to death. Two days after this happened, Capt. Johnson left the Harbor and the bodies had not been buried, but the Indians were collecting in large numbers for that purpose. The settlers were greatly alarmed, fearing the Indians might commence hostilities, although usually peaceably disposed. The Indian stabbed by Dickson was chief of a small band living between Gray's Harbor and Shoalwater Bay, who have never been treated with by the Government. He was regarded by the settlers generally as a good Indian.—Olympia [illegible]

The [illegible] says: "Men who have been engaged in this rebellion will not necessarily make bad citizens. Just as if they who had tried to destroy their Government and had murdered their fellow countrymen by hundreds and thousands were not already proved both to be bad citizens and persons utterly unfit to be trusted with any political rights and duties again!"

IDAHO ELECTION.—The election in Idaho Territory, as far as heard from has gone Democratic. This was expected. Missouri outlaws and soldiers from Price's army swelled the Democratic vote and gave the party its majority.

Hon. William Higby sailed last evening on the Oregon for San Francisco.

A[illegible] CROPS.—With the end of the week the farmers generally will have pretty nearly finished harvesting their grain. During the past five days they have been employed mostly in hauling in and [illegible] the grain preparatory to threshing it out. On some of the farms the grain is already being threshed and put away in the granaries. The [illegible] crop throughout the valley looks well, [illegible] everything [illegible]. Next season a number of farmers [illegible] experiment [illegible] the varieties of corn which [illegible] in the valley, but which they [illegible] will do admirably here.—Walla Walla Statesman.

GRADES OF THE CITY.—[illegible] professing to know [illegible] the following from "Old Grade," [illegible] the matter than we have [illegible] stated [illegible] of the [illegible] to [illegible] Couch's Addition [illegible] the several [illegible] were referred to the committee on streets [illegible] and the committee reported [illegible] no change was proposed [illegible] meeting of the Council [illegible] sidewalks and others was [illegible] ground, as the matter to which [illegible] by the report of the committee [illegible]

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Dear Sir—In your report of the proceedings of the last meeting of the Common Council [illegible] signed by B. F. [illegible] change of grade on North Fifth street was [illegible] postponed.

It was stated by [illegible] those streets was not [illegible] by Ordinance of August 18th, 1864 [illegible] We conclude that [illegible] affect the grade, &c.

To be brief and to the point [illegible] August 18th, 1864, the [illegible] the grades and many grades [illegible] from that established by the [illegible] a fact everybody must already know [illegible] covered up side walks and [illegible] buildings made under established grades.

This the Council knew [illegible] days since they passed an ordinance [illegible] of Front street, (established [illegible] below the base to prevent [illegible] side—ing above the floors [illegible] Washington street to Pine street [illegible] by Ordinance under the [illegible] August [illegible] 1864, and of the Ordinance of August 18th, 186[illegible]

Now, if no change of grades [illegible] why publish the notice [illegible] August [illegible] to change all the grades established [illegible] August 18th, 1864, by [illegible] and approving the Ordinance [illegible] August 18th, 1864, and the Council being informed [illegible] that the [illegible] failed to accomplish what was intended, then for this reason published the [illegible] of August 18th, 1864. And it seems the people of North Fifth street [illegible] the first opportunity [illegible] against the grade being established [illegible] in said notice.

Now, with all due respect and notwithstanding [illegible] and the indignant treatment of the citizens [illegible] by the Council [illegible] conclusion is [illegible] that while [illegible] enough are represented [illegible] the Council will establish [illegible] grade in North Fifth street without the consent of the property owners.

Yours &c. [illegible]

MONEY AND STOCK BROKER'S OFFICE.—Mr. C. N. Hamlin has opened a Money and Stock Broker's Office at No. [illegible] street, in this city, which is about as near [illegible] establishments of this class in Eastern cities as can well be made. He proposes to deal in Government and [illegible] securities, legal tenders, mining stocks, &c. It is well known that there is an abundance of [illegible] and State stocks afloat in Oregon, which under the present [illegible] of conducting business are useless to the holder in consequence of the difficulty of converting them [illegible] Such will be honored at the counter of Mr. [illegible] securities can also be placed on the market through [illegible] or be made convertible for cash on short time. Goods may also be bonded, and from all we can learn the [illegible] as proposed to be conducted by Mr. H. will enable the community to transact monetary affairs on a more liberal scale than before, as the [illegible] of bonds and securities lying idle may be obtained [illegible] of business. The system of conducting [illegible] of financial operations is quite different from [illegible] establishment on the coast, and while the [illegible] continues dull, we apprehend the workings [illegible] of the broker will make money more plentiful and cheap [illegible] Any one having good collateral securities will be [illegible] to avail themselves of it, for the procurement of money by which to transact immediate business. The [illegible] stocks in New York shows the results of [illegible] of this kind. Mining stocks placed on the [illegible] have brought to Idaho many hundreds [illegible] to aid in the development of her rich resources. Here, if a man has shares of that character [illegible] to place them on the market, limiting the [illegible] of, or "call" the same in as the case may [illegible] in a company of sufficient capital to go [illegible] development. This is the special business of Mr. H. He has a very excellent office which adds to the [illegible] of the city as well as the general business [illegible] community. We wish him abundant success.

—Patrick Coakley, night watch at the New [illegible] Hotel, has orders not to permit any suspicious [illegible] Chinamen, etc., to hang about these [illegible] after a certain hour at night. Not long since a [illegible] tried to get up stairs, when he was asked by the watch what he wanted there. He gave no [illegible] answer, and even persisted in going up the steps [illegible] told to come back, when Coakly roughly put [illegible] of the house. John immediately applied to an [illegible] Coakley was arrested "for assaulting a Chinaman." Yesterday the matter was investigated before [illegible] and it appearing that the watch had only [illegible] his duty, he was discharged. The [illegible] now be arrested and made to show what [illegible] was that time of night, in the hotel.

[illegible]—The steamship Oriflamme, Captain [illegible], left this port for Victoria and San Francisco [illegible] carrying about one hundred passengers [illegible] freight, and treasure shipped by parties as follows:

Wells, Fargo & Co	$120,000
[illegible]	25,000
[illegible]	21,000
[illegible] Columbia	5,748
[illegible]	6,000
[illegible] Co	10,700
	$198,063

[illegible] SAMPLE OF FREIGHT CHARGES.—Mr. C [illegible] his office at No. 5, Washington street [illegible] the Lillie patent, which was ordered [illegible] through Knapp, Burrell & Co. from [illegible] in Troy, New York. Seven days after [illegible] at Portland it was shipped from New York. After a voyage at sea of 115 days it was [illegible] Ten days afterwards it arrived [illegible] in his office, making the round [illegible] to its present place, a distance of [illegible] miles via Cape Horn in 132 days. The [illegible] and we have collected the items of [illegible] as follows: It came by sail around [illegible] a distance of nearly 17,000 [illegible] of $121 06 in currency, at the time $91 [illegible] From San Francisco to this place the cost [illegible] a fraction above the rate from [illegible] had the safe been shipped by steamer from [illegible] of transportation would have reached [illegible] gold coin, according to the system of [illegible] Our merchants and business men [illegible] of shipping by sail. Now [illegible] on the Columbia river bar, sailing [illegible] trips with quick dispatch, at reduced [illegible] our people to obtain more reasonable [illegible] The subject of direct importation from [illegible] itself upon looking at matters of [illegible] will not be greater in proportion, to [illegible] from New York, than to land [illegible]

[illegible]—We were shown [illegible] of float gold taken from a new discovery [illegible] vicinity of Express Ranch, near Burnt river [illegible] of the most excellent quality. We are reliably [illegible] that this is the richest discovery that has yet [illegible] It is said that from an ordinary coffee pot [illegible] dollars worth of gold was washed [illegible] had been at work in the diggings five [illegible] had cleared the snug little sum of five thousand [illegible] We are without further particulars concerning [illegible] discovery, but considering the perfectly [illegible] which this limited information is derived [illegible] quite certain that further particulars [illegible] made public.

[illegible]—By reference to the advertisement of [illegible] it will be seen that the bark Almo [illegible] is now on the berth at San Francisco [illegible] for Portland at $1 50 ⅌ ton. This [illegible] than the vessels can stand and [illegible] result of an opposition, but whether [illegible] enough to cause any permanent [illegible] bona fide reduction we are unable [illegible] the vessel now on the berth in [illegible] in the Live Yankee, under command [illegible]

[illegible] COURT.—Yesterday during the [illegible] Wo, for assault of David Cole, before [illegible] a question arose concerning the validity [illegible] Judge Page, Attorney for the [illegible] the Prosecuting Attorney desired [illegible] sworn according to their own [illegible] over a dead chicken after it had been [illegible] into the Court room and his neck broken [illegible] red bits of paper. The Prosecuting Attorney had no [illegible] providing the Attorney [illegible] would procure the chicken [illegible] in the custom of civilized nations.

[illegible]—Formerly [illegible] used as an abbreviation for [illegible] and disorderly, in our reports of the Police Court. Now the letters signify [illegible] state of [illegible] system when a man is [illegible] and [illegible] on the sidewalk. Yesterday [illegible] were each sent up to the city jail for [illegible] days [illegible] of being [illegible] was drunk to have a hearing [illegible] night, haggard and [illegible] day.

HOP WO SENT UP.—Hop Wo is taking his [illegible] at the county jail for the next fifty [illegible] in default of [illegible] fine, imposed yesterday by [illegible] for assault upon David Cole. The Hop Wo [illegible] and Hong Kongs will not be long in finding out that they are bound to respect the rights of white persons or suffer [illegible]

[illegible]—The steamship Oriflamme cleared for the Victoria [illegible] last evening, about 2[illegible] boxes of assorted fruit, and 250 gunnies [illegible] For San Francisco the freight amounted to [illegible] merchandise, 27 [illegible] eggs, a quantity of green and dry hides and several bales of wool.

FOR SALEM AND SANTIAM.—T[illegible] Ashby and Col [illegible] accompanied by Gov. Hamilton will leave Portland by the steamer [illegible] They will also visit the Santiam mining [illegible] if time and opportunity will permit them to do so.

PLEADS GUILTY.—Charles Canahan was yesterday found guilty of assaulting Mrs. Morse in her own house and [illegible] a pistol upon her. Upon investigation before Justice [illegible] He will appear for sentence this morning.

THANKS.—McCormick has kindly sent us a bundle of late papers.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO AUGUST 14TH.

The Atlantic Cable.

NEW YORK, August 8.—Dispatches from Queenstown of July 27th says that the Great Eastern was [illegible] 400 miles out, and paying out all [illegible] and the [illegible]

FARTHER POINT, August [illegible]—The [illegible] from Liverpool [illegible] 27th and Londonderry 28th has arrived. The Great Eastern was about 1[illegible] miles out and had paid out 400 or [illegible] miles. Signals [illegible] at that time.

NEW YORK, August 9.—The steamer Etna from Liverpool the 30th has arrived. Seven hundred and fifty miles of the Atlantic cable paid out when insulation was lost. Political news unimportant.

FARTHER POINT, August 13.—The [illegible] from Liverpool the 3d and Londonderry the 4th has arrived. The [illegible] from New York arrived on the 4th.

LONDON, August 4.—Communication with the Great Eastern remains suspended. Nothing has been heard from her since noon on the 2d. The Atlantic Telegraph shares [illegible] at 23 [illegible] The insurance [illegible] advanced to 50 and 60 guineas. The latest dispatch from the Great Eastern was dated the 2d, and reported all going well, there being 1,200 miles of the cable paid out. On Wednesday the following was received:

VALENTIA, August 2.—[illegible] Signals from the Great Eastern became unintelligible at noon. No communication has been had with the ship since. The cause is unknown.

HEARTS CONTENT, August 14.—A schooner just from Cardiff reports that she saw the Great Eastern and the British ship of war Terrible on the 31. It is reported that [illegible] August 2d and was in [illegible] latitude [illegible] and longitude 39° 10.

Fire at Petersburgh, Va.

FORTRESS MONROE, Aug. [illegible]—Clark's cotton factory at Petersburgh, Va., has been destroyed by fire. Loss $20,000; insured.

Yellow Fever at Havana.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. [illegible]—The Galveston Bulletin of the 4th says yellow fever was prevailing to a considerable extent at Havana, and the proportion of deaths was greater than usual.

The army worm is threatening entire destruction to the cotton crop in Galveston county, Texas.

The Suffrage Question in Virginia.

The Herald's special says a call for a National Convention, composed of three delegates from each Congressional District in the country to devise measures for securing voting privileges to colored people, is being extensively circulated, and signed in Portsmouth and other places in Eastern Virginia.

Texas Affairs.

The Herald's Galveston correspondent says that Provisional Governor Hamilton reached that place July 21st. On the 25th inst. he issued a proclamation to the people announcing his appointment by the President, and foreshadowing his course of procedure in the performance of his duties. He mentions no time for election or convention, but says that will be held as soon as practicable. He notifies Texans of the delusion under which many of them are laboring that slavery still exists, informing them that slavery is effectually dead and that if they fail to treat the negro as less than a freeman, their representatives will in vain seek admission to Congress.

Foreign.

NEW YORK, August 6.—The London Times correspondent says the news from America is likely to make stir across the channel. It is believed here that thousands of southern soldiers are already in the army of Maximillian, and that the Emperor Napoleon finding such a body of recruits at hand, will not be under the necessity of sending re-inforcements across the Atlantic.

John C. Breckinridge was expected in London July 28th, on his way to Paris, accompanied by several Confederate officers who it is supposed will volunteer for Mexico.

Indian Affairs.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The Secretary of the Interior Department and Commissioner of Indian Bureau, with other officials, have under advisement the plan of adjustment of the relation with tribes in New Mexico. It is represented that certain propositions from the Society of Friends have been received by this Department, which points to certain reforms in Government legislation now in vogue in the Indian country, and which asks the privilege of aiding the re-adjustment proposed. It is said that Secretary Harlow left last evening for Philadelphia with a view of personal consultation with the Society.

Terrible Condition of Things in Virginia.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The Tribune's Richmond correspondent says evil spirits have been let loose upon the United States since the unceremonious and justly deserved fate of the late election was pronounced—joining men and citizens together to waylay and assault every colored man they meet, while older heads universally adopt the plan of fighting our soldiers, and at the same time hissing out their bitterest denunciations on the negro. The most stringent orders of General Terry are inadequate to meet the growing abuse.

The Indians of New Mexico.

NEW YORK, August 8.—The Post's Washington special says that the Commission of Indian affairs has received a proposition from a delegation of Philadelphia Quakers regarding the Indians of New Mexico, proposing to establish schools among the Navajo Indians free of all expenses to the Government. The Commissioner has granted the request. It promises the co-operation of the Bureau in forwarding the enterprise.

NEW YORK, August 8.—Senators Foster, Doolittle and Ross, sent to investigate Indian affairs in New Mexico and Colorado, have returned from the plains. While absent, they investigated the Sand Creek affair, and informed the Indians in terested, that the Government disapproved of Col. Chivington's action. They invited the Indians to meet them in council at Cow Creek, near Fort Larned, September 10th, and arrange terms of peace. Favorable results are anticipated. Col. Samuel Tappan, of the First Colorado cavalry, accompanied the Senatorial delegation.

Miscellaneous Items.

NEW YORK, August 8.—The Times' special dispatch says that the President is in good health.

A military Commission is trying cases of prisoners confined in the old capitol prison.

The receipts of Internal Revenue yesterday were one and a quarter millions. The Treasury has enough funds to pay all the indebtedness of the army.

The Republican says that Mexican armies, large and efficient, hold undisputed possession of a great portion of the territory of the country, while guerrilla bands still roam through every section.

Herschel V. Johnson Pardoned.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10th.—The Commercial says Mrs. Douglas's appeal to the President for the pardon of H. V. Johnson, who was on the ticket with her husband, as Vice President has proved successful.

The Post's Washington special dispatch says advices received by the State Department to-day, from the American Consul at Malta, states that the cholera was raging there to a fearful extent. Communication with neighboring islands is suspended.

Mosby Arrested.

WASHINGTON, August 10th.—Mosby was arrested last night in Alexandria, and is still held in custody.

Reconstruction in Florida.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Provisional Governor William Marvin, of Florida, issued a proclamation to the people of that State August 14, informing them of the necessary steps to be taken to restore civil government, and the days for the election of delegates to the Convention. The time for its assemblage has not been decided upon. It will be named as soon as the proper time shall have been given for the people to take the oath of allegiance.

Defalcation and Financial Panic in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Great excitement prevails in financial circles to-day. A number of failures are reported, among them that of Graham & Co. and Ketchum & Son, the latter firm have [illegible] gold checks to the amount of $2,000,000 and left for parts unknown. Stocks have fallen [illegible] to 34 per cent.

But little additional matter have been [illegible] up to [illegible] the great defalcation.

The Rebel Gen. Lee.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The Herald's Richmond correspondent says [illegible] General Lee left this city and [illegible] the village of Cartersville, Buckingham county, on the south side of James River, forty miles from Richmond, where he is living in seclusion, scarcely answering the myriads of letters addressed to him. He resides in a small cottage, the property of Mrs. Cox, adjacent and belonging to which are some four acres of land, which he finds some recreation in cultivating. General Lee is unusually retired. It is possible he will rarely if ever emerge from his seclusion.

More Trouble in Virginia.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The Herald's special dispatch says grave difficulties are arising between the citizens of Mecklenburg county, Va., and the freedmen, heretofore living as slaves.

Failure of the Atlantic Telegraph—7-30 Loan.

SALT LAKE, Aug. 21.—A telegram has been received by H. W. Carpenter from the operator at Omaha City, that when 1,200 miles out from Valentia the Atlantic cable broke in 240 fathoms of water. The Great Eastern which [illegible] back to England for better grappling irons.

It is stated from Washington [illegible] of July 19th that the Secretary of the Treasury has telegraphed to the Assistant Treasurer at San Francisco, to [illegible] the subscriptions [illegible] The entire subscription will be taken before the [illegible] of notes can reach here. We are informed that this order [illegible] and which are [illegible] to the Sub Treasury [illegible] and with Wells Fargo & Co. [illegible] to [illegible] with two months [illegible]

After instructions to discontinue subscriptions for the latter issue have been [illegible] received, there [illegible] in either. It will be remembered that an old issue has this advantage: the full amount of seven thirty per cent. will be paid currently, whereas in the case of last issues the Secretary may pay seven thirty per cent. or in gold [illegible] within six months or a year, which would make the former a practicable investment.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The General commanding the Department of Texas is enjoined to strict and faithful observance of the instructions heretofore issued, which require him to clear from any show of movement, [illegible] war between France and the sovereign power which United States continues to recognize as chief.

NEW YORK, July 31.—A fire in Williamsburg this morning destroyed fourteen buildings on Sunday street.

California News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—The Collector of Customs has received a communication from the Assistant Secretary of State, enclosing a dispatch from the United States Consul at Port Mahon, dated May 31, in which he says that he has learned from various sources that the Russian Plague is extending westward more rapidly than is generally supposed. Some of the faculty pronounce it contagious, others do not. The Consul suggests that all cargoes arriving in the United States from Russian or Turkish ports be subjected to a rigid scrutiny before landing, especially bedding, clothing, rags, etc. The disease is said to be the same as that which visited London over a century ago. Mayor Coon has taken all the necessary precautions to guard against the introduction of the Russian Plague and all other infectious diseases into this city, though as far as the plague is concerned, little precaution is necessary, as further investigations have shown that first reports regarding this disease were greatly exaggerated. The Health Officer has instructed the pilots to keep close watch for all diseases of an infectious character in vessels which they board, and as for vessels from Russian ports there is not on an average more than one arrival in six months at this port.

The receipts at the mint to-day amounted to 671 deposits, making 10,000 ounces all in dust and valued at about $28,000. A large proportion of it came from the northern mines by the Sierra Nevada.

The U. S. steamer Saginaw arrived at Mare Island this afternoon, and has anchored off Pacific street wharf.

By the arrival of the bark Mermaid, in 21 days from Shanghae, we have files of papers from that city to July 20, and Bombay advices to May 23d. Chinese news presents no features of interest. The papers were calling attention to the necessity of preparing for the dreaded advent of the Russian Plague by cleansing the cities. The Bombay Gazette says that the losses in that city consequent on the cotton bubble, amount to not less than one hundred and fifty millions of dollars. Ruin is wide spread and overwhelming. A formidable list of failures in commercial circles is reported.

Advices from Shanghae state that the American steamer Foh Kien went ashore at the mouth of the river on the night of July 13th, and was a total loss. The officers and crew were all saved.

Legal Tenders 71½@71½.

Arrived—Queen of the Avon, 48 days from Kanagawa; bark Mermaid, 31 days from Shanghai.

Sailed—bark Florence, for Puget Sound; bark Yakwakeeg for Humboldt. Aug. 23d, bark Geo. Washington for Puget Sound.

The Burning of Barnum's Museum

[From the New York Tribune, July 14.]

About 12½ o'clock the City Hall bell struck the alarm. The fire companies turned out promptly and Park Row and Broadway were soon thronged with scores of thousands attracted to the spot by the rapidly spreading report that Barnum's Museum was on fire.

EXPLOSION OF A BOILER

As the fire progressed the heat became intense. The crowd of spectators steadily increased and [illegible] But all the streets in the vicinity which led to the building burst, causing the vast throng to run to all points of the compass. Many men, women and children were knocked down in [illegible] was thrown back while a dozen others stumbled over him almost killing him. Finding himself in a dangerous predicament and not being able to extricate himself he commenced kicking as though he was swimming (at this time he was almost swimming in mud), compelling those upon him and around him to seek some other tramping ground, which they quickly did, much to his relief. On rising and getting to his feet he looked about for his hat, which was not to be found.

THE POLICE

Captain De Camp, of the Second Precinct with a detachment of men was early on the ground and seeing the probability of an extensive fire telegraphed at once to the central office for help. In a short time detachments were present from the First, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth Precincts under the command of their respective Captains, the whole commanded by Inspector Carpenter. Lines were at once formed and none but the firemen and members of the press allowed to pass through. All displayed equal energy in preserving order, saving property, and keeping a wary eye upon the thieves who were present in large numbers. They remained on the ground until a late hour.

THE LOSSES AND INSURANCES

Owing to the confusion it is, of course, impossible to more than approximate the losses and insurances. We conclude the total loss by the fire must be $1,500,000 to $2,000,000. We give the full [illegible] losses and insurance in addition to those mentioned above.

No. 216. The first floor was occupied by G. W. White, hatter. He succeeded in removing a portion of his stock. His loss will amount to about $12, insured for $15,000, mostly in city companies.

No. 211. The first floor was occupied by P. L. Rogers' Sons, as a clothing warehouse. The Insurance Patrol succeeded in removing a portion of the stock; loss about $25,000, insured for $35,000 in the following companies: Bowery, Phœnix, Atlantic of Brooklyn, Montauk, New Amsterdam, Indemnity, and Home of New Haven, $3,500 each; Harmony, Lenox, and New England, $3,000 each; Yonkers and New York and Morris, $2,000 each, and Manhattan, $5,000. John F. Reeves occupied the second floor as a billiard saloon, in which were twelve fine billiard tables; total loss $10,000. The upper floors were used as dressing rooms by the members of the Museum Dramatic Company. The basement was occupied by Hines as a restaurant, known as the "Captain's Live and Let Live," loss, $2,000. The building was owned by the Morris estate and is a total loss; probably $30,000 would not cover it.

No. 212. The basement was occupied by William Branch as a dining saloon; loss $2,500. The second floor was occupied by R. H. Horn, optician; loss by fire and water, $10,000; insured, but to what amount could not be ascertained. The first and fifth floors were occupied by Knox the hatter, for the sale and manufacture of hats. His loss is given elsewhere. The third and fourth floors were occupied as offices by a number of professional men.

FULTON STREET

No. 215. A portion of the first floor was occupied Willetts & Skidmore, dealers in gentlemen's furnishing goods; loss about $5,000. The remaining portion was occupied by A. M. Wortendyke, saloon keeper; loss about $2,000.

No. 153. The first floor was occupied by a book dealer, whose name could not be ascertained; stock completely destroyed. The upper floors were occupied as offices. The building is completely gutted.

No. 151. Sherwood & Metzinger occupied the first floor as a liquor store; loss about $3,000. The upper part of the building was occupied as offices. The entire building was destroyed.

No. 149. The first floor and basement were occupied by John Duane, dealer in liquors; loss $1,000. The upper part of the building was occupied by Bassford, as a billiard table manufactory and saloon; loss $8,000. The building is completely demolished.

Nos. 145 and 147. This is a large, white marble, five-story, double building. The westerly portion of the first floor is occupied by Stearnes and Beall, dealers in stationery and blank books; loss on stock by water, $5,000; insured for $5,000 in the Phœnix, $4,000 in the Hanover, and $3,000 in the Croton Companies. The easterly portion of the first floor is occupied by J. S. Savery & Co., as a dining-room; loss by water, $2,000; insured for $4,000 in the Park Company. The second floor is occupied by J. B. Thompson and H. Hamilton, merchant tailors; loss by water slight. Insured in the Lafayette and People's Companies. The third floor is occupied by Slater & Riley, two printers; loss by fire and water, $1,000; insured in the Manhattan Company. The fourth floor is occupied by Howay & Ford, ivory turners; loss trifling; insured for $3,500 in the Tradesmen's Company. A portion of the second floor is occupied by Austin & McGill, blank-book binders; loss $400; insured for $5,000 in the Mechanics' Company. The building is owned by Josiah Macy, of the firm of Macy & Howe, bankers, and is damaged somewhat by fire and water; insured.

The buildings on the south side of Fulton street caught fire several times, owing to the intense heat, but in each case the flames were extinguished without much damage.

IN THE MUSEUM BUILDING.

John R. Meeker occupied a small office for the sale of photographs beside the entrance to the Museum. He saved almost all his stock.

The New York Optical Instrument Company occupied the first floor on the Ann street side. The stock was totally destroyed; loss, $6,000.

John R. Burbrug occupied a cigar store immediately adjoining; loss on stock, very little of which was saved, $4,500.

William Marsh occupied an office adjoining the cigar store, for the sale of trusses, etc.; loss about $2,000.

ANN STREET

No. 2. James E. Nolan occupied a saloon on the first floor, known as the "Sample Rooms"; loss on stock, $6,000; insured for $4,000 in the Fulton Company. The upper portion was the Museum.

No. 4. Dr. J. C. Glover occupied the first floor for the sale of trusses, etc.; stock total loss.

No. 6. The first floor was occupied as a shoe store by William Irwin; loss on stock (completely destroyed), $3,000. The upper part of Nos. 4 and 6 was occupied by the Museum.

No. 8. The first floor was occupied as a restaurant by Groot; loss, $2,000; insured. The upper floor was occupied by the Museum.

Nos. 10 and 12. The first floor was occupied as a boot and shoe store by Jones & Kendall, and was totally destroyed; loss on stock $5,000. The upper floors were occupied by William M. Clapp, printer, who estimates his loss at $2,000; William B. Wilde, paper ruler, loss $1,000; Thomas E. Barstow, printer, loss $1,500. The building is owned by M. Chandler, and is totally destroyed; loss about $10,000.

Nos. 14 and 16. The first floors were occupied by J. J. Byrne, tailor, and J. Ross, liquor store. Second floor occupied by C. Bellman, wood engraver. Third floor occupied by J. Anderson, pocket-book manufacturer. Fourth floor, J. Forbes, engineer. Each loss on stock from $1,000 to $2,000. The basement was occupied by J. Joandoburrie as a lager beer saloon; loss about $1,500. The building is owned by Thomas W. Strong and is damaged to the amount of $2,500.

No. 18. The basement, first and second were occupied by Dick and Fitzgerald, printers and book publishers; loss on stock by water $[illegible]; insured for $10,000 in city companies. The third floor is occupied by French & Wheat, printers; loss on stock, $2,500; insured.

The buildings on the opposite side of the street caught fire several times, but the flames were extinguished before much damage was inflicted.

Showers of sparks and cinders filled the air for a distance around, and in many instances awnings and roofs of buildings were ignited, but no serious damage was sustained.

ORIGIN OF THE FIRE

Our reporter was informed by Hurd, Barnum's son in law, and the Superintendent of the Museum, that the fire was first discovered in a small room near the Ann street entrance. The origin he cannot determine. He was first informed of it by one of the employees and at once directed every energy toward extinguishing it. The hose which was at all times kept in readiness was stretched, and a messenger sent for Engine Companies Nos. 5 and 38, and Hose Company No. 20, which are located in the immediate vicinity. All responded quickly, but so rapidly did the flames spread that it was soon apparent that the entire building was doomed. Having seen the firemen and employees at work, Hurd then went into the office and selecting the most valuable papers dispatched a messenger with them to the Broadway Bank. He then locked the safe and after ascertaining that no one was left in the building he [illegible].

LOSS ON THE MUSEUM AND CONTENTS

Hurd estimates that $500,000 would not cover the loss on the contents of the Museum building, which he [illegible] over $1,000,000.

FEAT OF THE BEASTS

Soon after the breaking out of the conflagration a mixture of strange and terrible howls and cries, as proceeding from the large apartment on the third story of the Museum, corner of Ann street and Broadway, startled the throngs which had collected in front of the burning building, and who were at first under the impression that those sounds must proceed from human beings unable to effect their escape. Their anxiety was somewhat relieved on this score, but their consternation was by no means decreased upon learning that the room in question was the principal chamber of the menagerie connected with the Museum, and that there was imminent danger of the release of the animals there confined, by the action of the flames.

CONFUSION AND STRUGGLE IN THE MENAGERIE

Protecting myself from the intense heat as well as I possibly could by taking the mattress from the bed and erecting it as a bulwark before the window, with eyes through a space on the top of it, I anxiously observed the animals in the opposite room. Immediately opposite the window through which I gazed was a large cage containing a lion and lioness. At the right hand was the three storied cage containing monkeys at the top, two kangaroos in the second story, and a happy family of rats, cats, adders, rabbits, etc., in the lower compartment.

To the left of the lion's cage was the tank containing the two vast alligators and still further to the left, partially hidden from my sight, was the grand tank containing the great white whale which has created such a furore in our sight-seeing midst for the past few weeks. Upon the floor was caged the boa constrictors, anacondas and rattlesnakes whose heads would now and then rise menacingly through the top of the cage. In the extreme right was the cage, entirely shut from my view at first, containing the Bengal tiger and the Polar bear, whose terrified growls could be distinctly heard from behind the partition.

PROGRESS OF THE FLAMES.

The conflagration was as yet confined to the upper part of the building. The lower walls, however, were becoming rapidly heated, and all of the animals began to manifest much uneasiness. The white or silver fox ran up and down his cage whining piteously and endeavoring to escape. The lions also paced hurriedly up and down moaning most dismally, and all the other beasts manifested similar uneasiness. The serpents stuck their heads up above the sill of the window and writhed about in strange contortions. When the fire had eaten its swift way down to the third floor, and the lurid glare burst through the transoms of the doors, the panic among the beasts became positively fearful. They sprang against their iron bars and strove to rend them with their teeth, at the same time sending forth savage and frightened cries which were almost human in their agony. At length, when the flames burst through the top of the door and commenced to lick the tops of the cages, the tumult reached its height. Yells, roars, howls and screams went up from the doomed brutes, which were heard to the distance of half a mile.

SELF EMANCIPATION OF THE LIONS

With a simultaneous bound, the lion and his mate sprang against their bars which gave way and came down with a great crash, releasing the beasts, which, for a moment, apparently amazed at their sudden liberty, stood in the middle of the floor lashing their sides with their tails and roaring dolefully.

FIERY DELIVERANCE OF ANIMALS

Almost at the same moment the upper part of the three storied cage, consumed by the flames, fell forward, letting the rods drop to the door, and many other animals were thus set free. Just at this time the door fell through and the flames and smoke rolled in like a whirlwind from the Haydean river Cocytus.

THE LION AND TIGER IN CLOSE CONTEST

A horrible howl in the right hand corner of the room, a yell of undescribable agony, and a crashing grating sound indicated that the tiger and polar bear were stirred up to the highest pitch of excitement. Then there came a great crash as of the giving way of the bars of their cage. The flames and smoke momentarily rolled back, and for a few seconds the interior of the rooms was visible in the lurid light of the flames, which revealed the tiger and the lion locked together in close combat.

PARTICIPATION OF THE SERPENTS.

The base of the rods of the serpents' cage had also crumbled, and the largest boa constrictor—about twenty feet long and as thick as a man's body—was also engaged in deadly struggle with the lioness.

THE POLAR BEAR IN A WARM PLACE

The polar bear had shrunk to the coolest corner, with half his fur burnt from his snowy coat, and there sat wonderingly gazing upon the scene before him. Accustomed, as he had been, to deal with only the walrus and the seal in the cold blue waters of the Arctic regions, he was evidently considerably alarmed at the excessive torrid scene, which was blazing through the room. Under the circumstances he found it impossible to take it cool.

THE SNAKES AND MONKEYS IN TROUBLE

The monkeys were perched around the windows shivering with dread and afraid to jump out. The snakes were writhing about, crippled and blistered by the heat, darting out their forked tongues and expressing their rage and fear in the most sibilant of hisses.

CONTINUATION OF THE STRUGGLE.

Meanwhile the lion and tiger were continuing their contest, now with the advantage on one side, now on the other, and the boa was slowly tightening his fatal coils around the panting body of the lioness, which, however, bit and struggled, lacerating the striped skin of its adversary terribly. The floor was already crimson with their blood, while the commingling hisses, howls, yells and roars utterly surpassed all efforts at description.

THE WHALE AND ALLIGATORS IN TORMENT

At this moment the flames rolled again into the room, and then again retired. The whale and alligators were by this time suffering dreadful torments. The water in which they swam was literally boiling. The alligators dashed fiercely about endeavoring to escape, and opening and shutting their great jaws in ferocious torture; but the poor whale, almost boiled, with great ulcers bursting from his blubbery sides, could only feebly swim about, though blowing excessively, and every now and then sending up great fountains of spray.

At length crack went the glass sides of the great cases, and the whale and the alligators rolled out on the floor with the rushing and steaming water. The whale died pretty easily, having been pretty well used up before. A few gasps and a convulsive flap or two of his mighty flukes were his expiring spasms.

One of the alligators was killed almost immediately by falling across a great fragment of shattered glass, which cut open his stomach and let out the greater part of his entrails to the light of day. The remaining alligator became involved in a controversy with an anaconda and joined the melee in the center of the blazing apartment.

CLOSE OF THE THRILLING SCENE

At this moment the floor, undermined by flames, gave way with an awful crash and the living, struggling, howling, writhing mass launched into a gulf of red and yellow fire, sending up a whirlwind of smoke, sparks and cinders to the very heavens.

The last object I saw was the polar bear, upon a white hot square of sheet iron, with all the hair burned from his skin and standing stark and stiff and rapidly burning brown.

Before the whale went down with the rest a stream of spermaceti ran from his carcass down the sides of the building, taking fire and making impromptu candles on a colossal scale.

FREAKS OF MONKEYS, ETC

A number of the birds which were caged in the upper part of the building were set free by some charitably inclined person at the first alarm of fire. At intervals they flew out. There were many valuable tropical birds, parrots of all sizes and many other [illegible] parroquets, cockatoos, mocking birds, etc., as well as some vultures and eagles and one condor. Great excitement existed among the swarming crowds in the street below as this took wing. There were [illegible] on the cornice [illegible] a few serpents which had obtained their liberty [illegible] after the roaring and devouring flames began to envelop the entire building a splendid sight was presented to the wondering and gazing throngs. [illegible] with flap of wing and [illegible] coils [illegible] wreath [illegible] presenting a novel and terrible combat. It was the Earth and Air or their representatives at war for mastery. The eagle [illegible] and the serpent were engaged in deadly battle. At length the flat head of the serpent sank, his writhing sinuous form grew still, and wafted upward by the cheers of the gazing multitude the eagle with a scream of triumph and bearing his prey in his [illegible] talons soared toward the sun.

Several monkeys escaped from the burning building to the neighboring roofs and streets, and considerable excitement was caused by the attempt to secure them.

One of the most amusing incidents in this respect was in connection with James Gordon Bennett. The veteran editor of the Herald was sitting in his private office with his back to the open window, calmly discussing with a friend the chances that the Herald establishment would escape the conflagration which at that time was threateningly advancing up Ann street toward Nassau. In the course of his conversation Bennett observed, "However [illegible] in case of fire they say that the devil is ever at one's shoulder, and [illegible]." Here an exclamation from his friend interrupted him, and turning quickly he was not a little taken aback at seeing the devil himself or something very like him at his shoulder as he spoke. Recovering his equanimity with the ease and suavity which is usual with him in all company, Bennett [illegible] the intruder, when he perceived that what he had taken for the gentleman in black was nothing more than a frightened orang-outang. The poor creature, but recently released from captivity, and doubtless thinking that he might still remain [illegible] in the editorial corps of the paper in question, had descended by the water pipe and instinctively taken refuge in the inner sanctum of the establishment of the office.

Although the editor, perhaps from the fact that he saw nothing peculiarly strange in the visitation, [illegible] his composure, it was far otherwise with his friend, who immediately gave the alarm. He [illegible] rushed in [illegible] attacked the [illegible] grasping him by the throat. The book editor next came in. [illegible] upon the brute by the ears, [illegible] and seized the tail with both hands [illegible] reporters armed with inkstands and sharpened pencils came next, followed by a dozen [illegible] men with brandished clubs; at the same time the engineer in the basement received the preconcerted signal and got ready his hose wherewith to pour boiling hot water upon the heads of those in the street in case it should prove a regular systematized attack by gorillas, Brazilian apes and chimpanzees.

Opposed to this formidable combination, the rash intruder fared badly, and was soon in durance vile.

Numerous other incidents of a similar kind occurred, but some of them most amusing incidents were in connection.

WITH THE FAT WOMAN

Mrs. Anna Swann was only rescued with the most difficulty. There was not a door through which her bulky frame could obtain a passage. It was likewise feared that the stairs would break down, even if she should reach them. Her best friend, the living skeleton, stood by her as long as he dared, but then deserted her, while, as the heat grew in intensity, the perspiration rolled from her face in little brooks and rivulets, which pattered musically upon the floor. At length, as a last resort, the employes of the place procured a lofty derrick, which fortunately happened to be standing near, and erected it alongside of the Museum. A portion of the wall was then broken off on each side of the window, the strong tackle was got in readiness, the fat woman was made fast to the end and swung over the heads of the people in the street with eighteen men grasping the other extremity of the line, and lowered down from the third story, amid enthusiastic applause. A carriage of extraordinary capacity was in readiness and, entering this, the young lady was driven away to a hotel.

ACTIVITY AMONG THIEVES

The pickpockets plied their vocation energetically. Various rushes were made and every time there was a rush, purses and watches were lost in profusion. Some men had their hats taken from their heads, and the thieves who robbed them went into Knox and White's establishments [illegible], and then had the assurance to sell them to the very persons they had plundered. This was peculiarly like New York, whose scoundrels surpass in boldness and energy those of almost any other city in the world.

HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN MUSEUM

The American Museum of New York was established in 1810, and gradually increased in size and attractiveness until about the year 1820, when the Common Council of the city granted it a free lease of rooms in a building on the Park, in the rear of the present City Hall. It was then known by the very unpretending and very indefinite title, "The New York Institution." From that location it was removed in 1843 to the building whose fallen walls and smouldering ruins now render it as difficult of identification as the corpse of a passenger who has suddenly added to the catalogue of "railroad murders." The institution then changed its name to "Scudder's American Museum," and was conducted by John Furnham, for the benefit of the daughters of Scudder, who were the actual proprietors. It cost its founder (Scudder) perhaps somewhere in the neighborhood of $50,000, and from the profits of the establishment he had been able to leave a liberal competency to his children. Toward the end of its career, however, "Scudder's American Museum" proved to be a losing concern, and the heirs were anxious to dispose of it. The price asked was $15,000. It was at this time that the great showman, the universal Yankee, the monster monger, P. T. Barnum, had his attention directed to the establishment, and first seriously contemplated inaugurating the colossal show which it has since proved under his energetic management.

EASTERN NEWS.—Dispatches from the East, dated July 11th, have the following:—

Welschman, the principal witness for the Government in the conspiracy case, publishes a card in the Sunday Dispatch, stating that the statement of Brophy, impeaching his character and testimony, is a tissue of lies from beginning to end; that the said statement was twice submitted to Judge Holt, and once to President Johnson and all the members of the Court, before the execution, without effect; that it was only at Brophy's own request that he was not called to the stand to testify to Welschman's good conduct. The card also details some conversation of Mrs. Surratt which did not appear before the Court, showing her knowledge of the conspiracy. He says Brophy is an alien, unnaturalized, and has never taken the oath of allegiance to the Government he attempted to assail in the person of its chief witness.

Brevet Brigadier General O. M. Poe, Chief Engineer on General Sherman's Staff, is now engaged in completing the maps of the operations of Sherman's great campaigns. The map of the siege of Atlanta is nearly finished and gives a very clear idea of the magnitude of those operations. Gen. Poe was also the engineer of all the elaborate works constructed in East Tennessee during the operations of Gen. Burnside.

A day or two after Harris and McCullough arrived, Harris said he would like to know where he was. The reply was that he was in the Penitentiary of the District of Columbia. Harris remarked in reply, "this is a d—d pretty place for a man to land after four years of glorious revolution." He calls his prison the "Stanton House."

McCullough and Harris were in conversation a day or two since, when McCullough remarked that he did not know but that good would grow out of the rebellion, as it had taught the people North and South what kind of people they were, and that the European nations had no doubt learned how strong we were. He was not sure but that the rebellion had done good to the people individually. Harris said that he did not believe a d—d word of it, for no good had come to him yet, and he thought he was not deserving of a share in any body else.

An amusing episode occurred at the White House Saturday morning. Montgomery Blair and some friends called to see the President, who was engaged with Secretary Seward. In a few moments the latter came down, and recognizing Mr. Blair, greeted him with a cordial shake of the hand and "Good morning, Mr. Blair—how do you do—glad to see you," at which Montgomery seemed rather unpleased. This was noticed by a certain California Senator, standing a few feet distant with a friend, whereupon he ejaculated with an inebriated accent, "H—l take you, Monroe Doctrine!"

Silver medals are to be awarded to a bevy of young ladies, who prove themselves the best cooks at a cooking match now being arranged at a town out West. It is intimated that husbands will also be put as prizes, each man marked with the value of his real and personal estate. The girls who intend to enter upon the contest have been debating the prize question and ask the promoters of the affair to buy wedding dresses for the chief prizes instead of the silver medals. This discussion created a heap of fun, and a leaders offering to add all the paraphernalia for a complete wedding outfit if any of the girls would agree to take the risk of winning a male prize.

DROWNED IN A VAT.—A workman in a brewery at Stamford, England, lately met with a fearful death. He was sitting in a [illegible] state on the edge of a tub containing malt liquor at a temperature of about one hundred and fifty degrees. Some one attempted to kick him. This startled him and he fell backward into the vat and was scalded to death.

Toronto correspondence states that the execution of Mrs. Surratt caused intense excitement among the rebel conspirators in Canada. They manifested their feelings by wearing crape on their arms, singing secession songs and threaten[ing] the President of the United States with terrible retribution.

Edmund Ruffin has an emulator in J. B. Hargrave, a rabid secessionist at Lynchburg, Va., [who] shot himself through the head with a revolver last week. He felt bad because Lee surrendered.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every diseases any way connected with the disorder or decay of the PROCREATIVE FUNCTIONS. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect; he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom of an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor—The [illegible] reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS AND CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females,

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts, gives strength to the digestive organs, brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.
